Polio Committee Elects Officers

3 Mar 1950
At a meeting last Monday night, Dr. Willard Draper, Polio Fund Chairman, reported that Heber City has collected $1406.59 in the recent polio drive. However, he stated that no other towns in Wasatch County have as yet sent in a report.

Dr. Draper deserves much credit for his untiring effort in this capacity. Regardless of the fact that his practice has kept him constantly active, he has found time to sponsor and participate in several fund activities, which have added greatly to the financial help of the Wasatch County Polio Fund.

In addition to the report given by Dr. Draper at the meeting, new officers were elected to carry on the splendid work done by the outgoing officers. The new officers are: Ford Fisher, chairman, to replace Bliss Bignal; Dr. Willard Draper, fund chairman, to place Dr. K. O. Nielson; Sylvia Jenkins to replace Sylvan Rasband as treasurer, and Viola Kinsey to replace Vilate McMillan as secretary.

Wasatch County Chapter of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis started their drive Jan. 16, and the drive ended last Wednesday, March 1.

Wasatch Exceeds Quota In Annual Polio Campaign

Wasatch County exceeded its quota by $176.07 in the recently completed March of Dimes campaign, according to Mr. Ford Fisher, Wasatch County Polio National Foundation Chairman.

Mr. Gene Payne, drive chairman, assisted by city chairmen, Mrs. Esther Smart, women's chairman, and countless individuals, collected $2176.07, exceeding the set goal of $2000.00. The Porch Light Parade netted $1258.48 January 31st to complete the month long campaign. The polio banquet, donated by a local person and cooked by Heber Cafe brought in $622 to the drive, business and private contributions were $167.50, basketball collection was $76.52, and the collections came to $51.57.

The entire campaign was pronounced an outstanding success by both Mr. Payne and Mr. Fisher. They expressed their gratitude this week to their co-workers and to the populous of the county for their generous support of the drive.

The national average in the drive is 30c per family for last year, Mr. Payne said. Wasatch county donated over $1.00 per family in this year's campaign to stamp out polio.

New Type Volunteer Group Being Organized 1/20/71

A new type of volunteer group is being organized. Do you have some spare time? Would you like to give of yourself to help those less fortunate? Do you like to play cards, checkers, or other games, go for a walk, or just sit and talk?

The people living at the Heber Valley Care Center like to do these things, but some have forgotten how, or perhaps just don't have anyone to help them. They need someone to come and give them extra attention and love for which they are always so grateful.

Blaine Elton, manager of the Care Center and Maren Durt-schi, Public Health Nurse would like to discuss this with those interested, both men and women of any age, at an introductory meeting at the Courthouse, in the Multipurpose Room on Tuesday, January 25 at 3:00 P. M. Come and help others while you help yourself to some worthwhile activity.

Polio Victim to Benefit From Dance on Nov. 24

WAVE 18 Nov 1955

Wasatch County friends and neighbors of Keith Bronson opened their hearts and pockets to him as tickets for a Thanksgiving dance benefiting the polio victim went on sale last week.

According to Randall Schear, co-sponsor of the dance, early response has netted nearly one-third of the total amount required to send Bronson to Denver for three months of treatments. It is hoped that the remainder will be raised through ticket sales and donations this week.

Schear reported one hundred percent co-operation from those solicited, with not a single refusal. The Heber Valley Riding Club, of which Bronson is an honorary member, sent a $25 donation and Chick's Cafe was among other generous contributors with $20.00 turned in to help the invalid.

Denied Use of Legs

Bronson, denied use of his legs since his bout with polio three years ago, hopes that a series of therapeutic treatments at the clinic in Denver will help him to get around with the aid of crutches. It would appear from the response

National 4-H Council

Many 4-H'ers work on clothing projects. These members are learning to sew and will display their project in a fashion show.

National 4-H Council

Exhibiting Hogs at the County Fair is part of a 4-H livestock project. Members may also raise cattle, poultry, or sheep.

4-H is an organization that helps young people learn useful skills, serve their communities, and have fun together. The 4-H slogan is "Learn by Doing." Members learn skills through working on a variety of projects either by themselves or together with other members of a community 4-H club. These projects deal with clothing, food, health, raising animals, safety, and many other subjects.

The four H's stand for head, heart, hands, and health. Members show their high ideals with their motto, Make the Best Better, and with this pledge:

I pledge
 My Head to clearer thinking,
 My Heart to greater loyalty,
 My Hands to larger service, and
 My Health to better living, for my club, my community, my country, and my world.

More than 80 countries have 4-H or similar organizations. Over 5½ million young people in the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands belong to 4-H. Almost 1¼ million more young people receive assistance from 4-H, even though they are not members. Canadian 4-H clubs have almost 75,000 members.

In the United States, anyone 9 through 19 years old may join 4-H. In Canada, the ages for membership vary depending on the province. Most members belong to neighborhood 4-H clubs, which have at least one adult volunteer leader. But teen-agers may also start a 4-H special interest group, such as a workshop on managing money. Unlike 4-H clubs, special interest groups are only temporary. After a group completes one workshop, it may start another or the members may join other special interest groups. Young people may also belong to 4-H through a 4-H television series, which guides them in doing projects at home.

Most 4-H clubs serve their communities with one or more special projects a year. For example, a club might plant trees or conduct a bicycle safety program. Many 4-H clubs prepare educational exhibits for community fairs.

There is no official 4-H uniform. But many members sew 4-H emblems on their clothing. The emblem is a green four-leaf clover with a white H printed on each leaf.

The 4-H movement began in the United States during the early 1900's. At first, only farm children belonged to the organization. They worked on such projects as canning, and raising livestock, poultry, and crops. City youngsters joined 4-H in greater numbers after clubs added projects of greater interest to them, such as automobile care and safety and career studies. Today, about a fourth of the 4-H members in the United States live on farms. The rest live in other rural areas and in cities, towns, and suburbs.

The Cooperative Extension Service, a joint project of the federal, state, and county governments, guides 4-H work in the United States. The extension service works in cooperation with state land-grant universities (see LAND-GRANT COLLEGE OR UNIVERSITY). An extension office in nearly every county in the United States employs one or more agents. The agents recruit and as-

Richard Fillmore

Benefit planned for critical youth

Wasatch High School Band and studentbody are planning a concert to be held next Tuesday, Oct. 25 at 7 p.m. at the Midway Town Hall. All proceeds will go to help the Robert and Loretta Fillmore family with expenses incurred with the sudden tragedy to their son, Richard, who is a long-time band member.

The top-notch concert will feature performances by the Wasatch High School Drill Team, the Wasatch High School Concert and Jazz Band, the Show Choir, plus more. Donations will be taken at the door.

Sixteen-year-old Richard was hit suddenly with stroke-like symptoms on Saturday evening, the 8th. He was rushed to the Wasatch County Hospital, then sent on to the University Medical Center's neurological critical care unit, where he is still in critical condition.

He suffered from a blood clot in the brain, which caused an occlusion in one of the main blood vessels to the back of the brain. The clot was dissolved with a probe, but the youth has not regained consciousness.

According to medical reports, if he doesn't regain consciousness within a few weeks, other serious complications could set in. Medically, it is a waiting period.

He has, however, been taken off the respirator, which is a good sign.

His parents have been with him constantly night and day working at helping him regain consciousness. They report some positive improvement in his condition as they notice small responses.
